Food For Thought

We did it all night.

Nan Kiene, Christina Dodson & Me

Ok, get your mind out of the gutter! The Relay for Life was this weekend to raise money and awareness for the American Cancer Society. My team consisted of Christina Dodson & Nan Kiene. Small group...BIG HEART! It started at 6pm on Friday night, and we walked, all night, with limited breaks, until 6am. It was a very emotional evening. The amount of cancer survivors was just awesome. They really stood out because of the sea of purple shirts. Yes, Christina is a survivor. They had a great evening full of fun activities to keep us motivated. I participated in the water balloon dodge ball. I did pretty good until a young kid got me! The event raised more than $107K. It was just amazing. I didn't know what to expect, but I know for next year. And yes, I WILL do it again. But we need more people. I'll definitely plan it a LOT earlier than I did this year. Now, I'm only functioning on 2 hours sleep in the past 2 days, my feet hurt and the blisters have blisters, I was super bloated, drank water all evening and ate to keep my energy up (I said no thanks to the goodies they graciously provided us - pizza, Krispie Kremes, candy, popcorn...) Thankfully for breakfast, they had fruit, so each lap I grabbed a different piece - banana - apple - orange. They had bagels too, but I didn't even look at them! I went to weigh-in, and thought I would be way over because of my muscles holding onto all the water they needed to heal. But I was actually down a little bit. So we'll see what happens next week.

I'm not walking 12 hours to blow it on pizza.

Week 4

Evel Knievel

Friday, June 20th was the day Weight Watchers sent a limo to take Craig, Alex and me to Six Flags so I could ride the new Evel Knievel coaster on opening day. It was amazing. I felt like a celebrity. I want to thank Weight Watchers with all my heart. Here are a few pictures and a link to a video celebrating the day. We were there all day, and we were pooped on the way home. By the way...Alex now wants to go everywhere in "The Big Car."

Recipe of The Week:

Clip & add to your recipe box!

Crock Pot Chicken & Dumplings

Ingredients

- 16 oz boneless skinless chicken breast
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 10.75-oz cans 98% fat free cream of chicken soup
- 1/2 Tbsp garlic powder
- Salt & pepper to taste
- Water
- 3 cups frozen mixed vegetables
- 1 can (7.5 to 10 oz) lower fat refrigerated biscuit dough

POINTS® Value: 4
Serving Size: 8

Instructions

Spray crock pot with nonstick spray. Add chicken, onion, soup, garlic powder and salt & pepper to crock pot. Add enough water to cover the chicken breasts. Cover and cook on low 6-8 hours (high 3-4 hours). About one hour before serving (if on low, turn to high), remove chicken from pot, shred and return to pot. Stir in mixed vegetables. Cut each biscuit into 4 wedges. Top the mixture in the crock pot with biscuit dough. Cover and cook 30-45 minutes more (until dough has risen and is cooked through.)

Chewin' the Fat

You are so close to your goal. How do you think you will keep up your motivation and determination once your journey is over?

This is a journey that will never end. Once I finish the weight loss portion of my journey, the next chapter begins. The maintenance of my weight loss. And what keeps me motivated is getting comments, emails and instant messages just like yours telling me how much I have inspired them to start, continue or even contemplate starting their own weight loss journey...or ANY journey for that matter. My determination isn't strictly limited to weight loss. You can apply my positive attitude strategy to anything you want to accomplish. After weight loss...my next goal will be to get out of debt. We'll get there. Just one baby step at a time. If I can do it, so can all of you.
